

Teachers' Night

Join us for informative tours of each new exhibition at Gairloch Gardens, discuss ideas for the classroom with other teachers, and get inspired with a workshop you can take back to your students.

This networking and professional development event takes place for each new exhibition. This year, Teachers' Night will take place the following Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 pm:

2007: 20 September, 22 November

2008: 7 February, 8 May

See pages 14-15 for exhibition details. Pre-registration required. This programme is free of charge.

Teacher Training

If you're interested in a workshop for professional development, we can help. Our studios overlooking Lake Ontario provide a spacious and inspiring setting for learning. Our experienced staff will share strategies and tools for integrating new art and new ideas into your classroom. Learn how contemporary artists can model critical thinking and creative problem-solving for your students. Learn how to approach non-traditional artwork (installation, video, sound, performance) with your students. Secondary school educators are also invited to book our training session on postmodernism and video art, which covers the material introduced in the school programme Postmodernism: A video programme in your classroom (see page 5) and includes a discussion and tour of the current exhibition.

Contact us for more details or to develop a workshop for your group.
